About Us

i3DigitalPD was built by educators with more than 15 years of experience in the digital learning industry. Our staff has worked with many schools and teachers making the shift to online and blended learning within the 5th largest district in the nation, Clark County School District, where they:

- provided professional development to thousands of teachers and administrators
- managed deployments of digital vendor content and learning management tools
- developed quality online content and courses
- helped schools build successful online and blended learning programs

Our experience is one of the greatest values we bring to districts and schools. We've seen what works, but perhaps more importantly - what doesn't - and we want to help you succeed.
